- Nero's sundial, you could even make the sundial yourself and see if it really works *
- Missing number, column addition *
- Missing number, column subtraction *

English

- Collect the Roman Coin reading comprehension sheets from the base. One sheet has all the information to read, the other has the questions. *
- Create and write a postcard pretending that you have recently visited Italy. Describe what you did, saw and experienced.
- Read or listen to a David Walliams book and write a book review. You can use the template sheet if you wish. *

Science, History and Art.

- Make a model skeleton using cut up paper or straws and label some of the bones.
- Research and describe the uses of The Colosseum both in Roman times and today.
- Write a fact sheet about the Roman Emperor Julius Ceasar including at least 6 facts.
- Choose one of Georges Seurat's paintings. Try to recreate it using Pointillism technique (these will go on display in the base).

Complete one piece of homework each week. Over the half term, try to complete at least two from each subject list. Bring your homework to school on a Thursday.

As well as the Home Learning Menu above, you will be given spelling homework each week and Mathletics homework will also be set. Remember to keep learning your times tables (use Times Tables Rockstars) and read regularly at home too!
